Holzman Corkery, MCUL enter into agreement

SOUTHFIELD, MI – January 16, 2012 Aimed at providing significant benefits for the Michigan Credit Union League and its affiliates, and all credit unions in the state of Michigan, the MCUL has entered into a retainer agreement with the law firm of Holzman Corkery.

The agreement states that Chuck Holzman, the managing partner of Holzman Corkery PLLC, will act as special counsel to the MCUL and its affiliates.

This relationship will bring all the resources of the Holzman Corkery team to MCUL, as well as improve the MCUL's legal, regulatory, legislative and product offerings to its credit unions. As well as providing significant benefits to the MCUL, the relationship will also benefit Michigan credit unions.

"We are pleased to enter into this relationship," Holzman said. "We are looking forward to complementing our resources with those already in existence with the MCUL and providing the MCUL with any assistance it needs along with all of its legal needs."

Holzman has more than 28 years experience working with and benefiting credit unions. His firm, which has assisted the MCUL and its affiliates in previous matters, exclusively represents credit unions, and has developed a business model that serves as the legal counsel for his credit union clients.

In the relationship with the MCUL, the Holzman Corkery firm will provide input and additional resources in the regulatory and governmental affairs areas, and work closely with CUcorp and CU Solutions Group. Holzman Corkery can obtain constructive feedback from the perspective of the credit unions on the agreements, products and services provided by out affiliates.

The agreement with the MCUL reinforces Holzman Corkery's close relationship with its credit union clients. Their legal obligations will flow to those clients in their dealings with MCUL and affiliates. By working closely with CUcorp and CU Solutions Group, Holzman Corkery will be able to work more efficiently and economically with their clients in counseling them on the various issues that may arise in their agreements with our affiliates and the products we provide.

In addition to providing a vast array of legal advice and counsel, Holzman Corkery will also work with the MCUL's education team and enhance a wide variety of educational programs and training programs with its credit union members.

"With the knowledge, experience and resources the firm brings to this relationship, it is a win-win for our organization and for all of Michigan's credit unions," MCUL & Affiliates CEO David Adams said. "This is a way to enhance our legal, regulatory and product offerings in a partnership that benefits the entire credit union community."
